President Truman Holds Whip-Hand

Disruptive Power Of Any Coalition With Rebels Cut

WASHINGTON, Jan. 4.—(CP)—President Truman, on the eve of his state-of-the-union speech to the 81st United States Congress, appears to hold the whip-hand over "rebel" southern Democrats.

As the new congress met yesterday, the first move of the House of Representatives was to approve a rules change which cuts drastically the disruptive power of any coalition between Republicans and the southerners who broke with the Democratic party over the issue of states' rights.

HOUSE MAY DECIDE

That combination has in the past played a leading role in out-voting administration Democrats at the rules committee. The change adopted yesterday provides that, after any 21-day period in which the committee has taken no action on a bill, a majority of the house may decide whether to proceed with it.

The vote was 275 to 142, with some 30 Democrats—most of them from southern states—joining 111 Republicans in the unsuccessful attempt to block the new rule.

It apparently paved the way for speedy action on the legislative proposals Truman will unveil tomorrow at a joint session of the house and the senate.

GOP SQUABBLE

A squabble within Republican ranks highlighted the initial session of the new senate.

Despite the opposition of a group of young Republicans, senate Republican leader Charles McNary (R., Ore.) has held it for four years. The anti-Taft group had jumped the Taft faction, but McNary (R., Ore.) has held it for four years. The anti-Taft group had jumped the Taft faction, but McNary (R., Ore.) has held it for four years.

Prior to Taft's re-election as Republican party leader, the senate voted to remove all limitations on the tenure of office of a senator. The old limit was four years, and, for yesterday's action, McNary would have had to step down.

AWAIT TAX POLICY

The president will urge higher taxes and a return to price control. He has consistently refused to give any taking of his desires in this direction.

On the other hand, it is a foregone conclusion that he will urge repeal of the Taft-Hartley Labor Law, new legislation in the fields of health, education and housing, strengthening of the farm-price support machinery and extension of reciprocal-trade arrangements.

Famed Coast Hotel Welcomes Last Guests

VANCOUVER, Jan. 4.—(CP)—The old Hotel Vancouver, one of Western Canada's most famous hostels, today welcomed its last guests—the wreckers who will tear it down.

After 83 years of playing host to the world's nobles, the stately old building will become what is said to be the largest wrecking job ever undertaken in the British Empire.

For the next eight months air hammer will echo through the empty corridors of the 13-story, 365-room Gothic architectural giant, in a job estimated to cost $2,000,000.

The building was formerly owned by the Canadian Pacific Railway and the present owners, T. Eaton Co., are reported planning a new department store on the site.

From its opening in 1887 until its official closing at a hotel in 1909, the building had many of the world's most prominent guests.

In post-war years it served as home to ex-servicemen and their families and last year as temporary shelter for victims of B.C.'s disastrous floods.

An average of 15,000 guests a year passed through the hotel in the years between the two wars. They included such figures as the Duke of Windsor, Queen Marie of Romania, Japan's Prince Chichibu and United States President Warren G. Harding.

on the TOWN

By J. D.

The New Year brought a new deal for the group of aged unemployed living in one tiny room.

These are the old men, too old or infirm to work, who draw provincial unemployment relief.

Flight of about a dozen of these came to the notice of Patrick Ashby, M.P. for Edmonton East. Pat got all steamed up like a CNA man when he ascertained that as many as 14 aged men had slept in one room 20 feet long and 12 feet wide as came storming into the Bulletin editorial room and conditions at the hotel where the men stayed were further investigated.

It was scarcely any afternoon edition of this newspaper carrying the story and picture of the old men when things began to happen. A kindly woman raced upstairs to the Bulletin editorial room and conditions at the hotel where the men stayed were further investigated.

"I want to help these old men. Will $100 help? No publicity for myself." Soon she was in conference with Pat Ashby.

Pat paid another visit to the relief recipients. He asked them what they needed most. They said socks, shirts, underwear, sweaters and mitts would really be appreciated.

So next afternoon a "Christmas" shopping expedition on West 17th St. was visited a large city department store. The desired wearing apparel was picked up by Pat, Mrs. Ashby and our Mrs. Santa Claus. When Pat happened to mention to the store manager who the goods were for he refused to accept payment for the socks, underwear and shirts. So a lot of other comforts were purchased.

When it came time for delivering the "Christmas" packages a big surprise was in store for Pat. It was moving day for the old men in the one room. Orders had come through to move over to the old immigration quarters, much roomier and more comfortable quarters were available.

So deliveries were made at the new home of the "forgotten" old men and they were happy to school kids, according to Pat. The East Edmonton boys in the morning on the receiving end of a few dark looks from some of the officials but the bright smiles on the faces of some of the nine or 10 old men more than evaded the score.

The boys in blue at city police station were also in the squad also had a truly happy New Year. Ever since Christmas week-end when 109 men and seven injured persons set a new holiday record, the traffic squad had been dutifully humming "It's awful what whisky can do." Imagine their joy when the New Year week-end went by without a single hospitalized accident case.

Police are giving a lot of credit to The Bulletin's staff photographer Eric Bland for his pictures illustrating the dangers of drunken driving and to Bland's feature writer Pat McVean for her timely warning story to holiday motorists. Whatever the reason, everybody's happy that Monday's papers carried no dread headlines of traffic crashes in Edmonton.

Orchids to Edmonton's motorists. How about keeping this kind of thing up all through 1949?

Jack Fowler, veteran Edmontonian, is a good natured humorist. He has been broken leg. For years he's been calling for better attention to safety in plant and shop. Few days back Jack fell from a ladder at his work and went to hospital with a broken leg. In a letter to secretary-treasurer Herb Turner of the Trades and Labor Council, Jack writes: "I was so thankful for course of lectures on how not to use ladders." PS: "I'll soon have the cast off."

Calgary looked bad compared to Edmonton. Edmonton's Christmas-New Year's week. The city fathers in the foothills town had no Christmas lights or decorations on the main streets. The editor from the Edmontonian George Cristall: "We blew all our money on the welcome-bonus to football champion Stedens."

FOUR PROVINCES OPEN

That was one reason he selected Alberta as his new home, Dr. Schmidt explained. Four provinces were open for him to be eligible to register.

Now from New Brunswick, Nova Scotia, Manitoba and Alberta. Life in the Maritimes did not appeal to him and he believed Manitoba's future was so bound up with one industry, agriculture, he would prefer Alberta.

For this province he foresees a brilliant future.

Increasing importance of personnel management in both business and school was stressed Monday night at the monthly dinner meeting of the Personnel Association of Edmonton in the Cowan Hotel.

Scoring the need of such management to the approximately 50 members, was the evening's main speaker, Herbert G. Ingram, assistant personnel superintendent of the Hudson Bay Co. retail store.

His address was mainly a report of the findings of the association study group which has just completed nine months' research of personnel management.

Discussion covered three phases: preparation, interviewing and placement of the job to be followed.

In summary, Mr. Ingram said: "In this era when personnel management is becoming increasingly important, it is the responsibility of every organization, whether school or business, to attract and gain the confidence of those seeking guidance or employment."

Study group member Arnold Henderson, a McDougall College high faculty member, outlined the group's plan for the forthcoming year.

Shotgun Wound
Self-Inflicted

A self-inflicted shotgun wound took the life of Eddie Pashyk, 35-year-old, RCMP sergeant.

The body has been released for burial, and no inquest will be held, police said after a coroner's investigation.

Edmonton government contention that old age pension increases to $40 a month under a $6-year minimum age qualification would cost nearly $200,000,000 yearly are "greatly exaggerated," according to a report submitted by the Alberta Pensioners' Society.

The report also said that the mean life, 100 years.

Actually, with continuation of the 1945 plan, a new plan such as that would cost the federal government no more than $200,000,000, declared Mr. Fisher.

"There has been a bad discrepancy made in figures of estimated costs somewhere along the line before they were given to the prime minister," he added.

The society's report stated that in Canada today there are approximately 200,000 people in the 65-70 year age group in great need of help. The government could add these persons to the present pension payroll plan at a yearly cost of $100,000,000.

At the same time, the society's report stated that the government would lose out on the minimum to $40 and boost monthly grants to $40, cost to the government would be less than $200,000,000 annually, stated the report.

The report also lashed out at criticism of some principles of old age pension, declaring that old persons who have spent their last dollar to raise children to the ranks of workers of war and peace are looked upon as driftwood of society.

"A decent standard of living is the urgent need of these people, who have worked like slaves all their lives, and at no time with more need for assistance than now for themselves," it concluded.

City HSC Moves To Curb Comics

Parent Group Denounces
Sexy, Gory Literature

A list of undesirable "comic" books will be prepared by a special committee of the Edmonton Home and School Council with a view to their eventual elimination from the reach of Edmonton children.

No probable course of action was adopted by the group pending receipt of a list of those considered "bad" by the committee.

The committee will be headed by P. X. Albertson of St. Andrew's Home and School Association, and will consist of five members.

In addition, it was decided to call upon any other interested organization, such as the Junior Chamber of Commerce and the Retail Drugists' Association from which there were representatives at the meeting.

Said Mr. Albertson, "There are certain comics which are definitely injurious to children."

Descriptive adjectives employed by Mr. Albertson in speaking of the so-called comics included "sexy," "gory" and "satanic."

He particularly cited one example in which he said, a "tender girl was shown smoking and with her clothing in disarray under the caption, 'I Was a Pick-Up Girl'."

He also warned against comic magazines with titles which represent the contents to be adult, but contain lurid stories and pictures.

He pointed out that children trade the magazines, with as many as twelve-ordinary ones going for 10¢ and the "adult" ones for 15¢.

"The Forest Heights representative to the Edmonton Council, Stanley Lee, also warned against the 'prohibition is a negative attitude'."

"It is very difficult to add, 'to obtain good publications for children from six to 11 years of age.'"

SUBSTITUTES NEEDED

"It is not enough to sweep the shelves clean," he declared. "We have to put something in their place."

He outlined efforts at Forest Heights to obtain books for children.

He also called for the need to move the date of the annual meeting to the first Monday in June.

Holidays Tarnished And So Are Budgets

By Bea Thrifty

The holiday season is tarnished and worn with age. Care and discretion concerning the food budget were tossed to the wind during the past two weeks and we feasted on the delicacies hitherto unknown to our meagre pocket-books.

But time for retrenching has come. Making a little meat go the whole trip is vital during this recuperation period.

And aren't you just a bit tired of all the rich food you've been growing fat and saucy on? I am and I'm good and ready to enthrone over a savory, wholesome beef stew.

This is one of the exercises which help you lose 20 pounds during Josephine Lowman's eight-week self-improvement Marathon. If you can get yourself in this position, return the legs slowly—not with a flop.

WHY GROW OLD

Self Improvement Plan Needs Application

By Josephine Lowman

It's that time again, with that certain feeling! Another year is behind us and we face a new one, shining with opportunity.

All of human nature responds to the idea of sloughing off the outworn and taking to its heart the unfolding adventure of a spanking new 12 months!

Last year in January, first of the month, I began my Eight-Week Self-Improvement Marathon. This year I am again offering you the opportunity to learn for information which is essential in making yourself over into a lovelier you.

If you have neglected yourself during the past few years, if you have accumulated extra pounds and unsightly bulges which make you look and feel years older than you are, if your hair has lost its luster and your complexion is not as good as it used to be, if your old look, which is made up of many subtle factors, has you down, now is the time for action.

The idea of my Eight-Week Self-Improvement Marathon is this: send for my marathon leaflet, and you will get directions on how to proceed in your self-improvement.

While you endeavor to make the greatest improvement possible in eight weeks' time you will know that thousands of other women are doing the same thing. It is fun to enter this contest when you have so much good company!

Later on each year I print the letters of some Marathon winners.

YOUR BABY AND MINE

Hair-Pulling Common Habit Among Children

By Myrtle Meyer Eldred

The color, thickness and growth of hair are influenced by heredity as well as by the general health of the child. There is a difference between balding and hair loss, some of whom are born with heavy "heads" of hair and others as bald as an old man.

It worries the mother of a girl who is sure to find her expected crown of glory. Mrs. P. H. T. has a 14-year-old girl who has very little hair. "In addition to that," she writes, "she has the terrible habit of pulling out her hair and tickling her nose with it. She is beginning to look bald in spots."

I have given her hot oil treatments and they don't seem to help. What would you suggest?

The balding is due to a physical examination to determine the state of her general health and whether her diet is adequate, and includes all the essential vitamins.

It is all too easy to feed a child without actually giving her the nourishment needed. So compare your present diet with one on some diet sheet for a child of her age, and make sure that she is having all the food required.

Then make a point of massaging the scalp with a hairbrush, warm each day, and especially after a bath. Anything rubbed onto the head is only as good as the massage which accompanies it.

Inside Hollywood

By BOB THOMAS
HOLLYWOOD. — (AP) — Look out, citizens, movie stars are coming your way.

The new year will find more and more Hollywood personalities going out to meet the public. It's a factor that will help improve the film industry's public relations but there's an important commercial matter too. One film figure told me it will add $50,000 to $60,000 to a picture's gross if the star will help call attention to it with a national tour.

AGOROS AND SUCH: Gregory Peck is not in the academy running for the first time in three years. He didn't have a picture released in 1948. "It's probably just as well," he says. "I'm not ready to take on Oliver."

Greer Garson's new film, "The Forsyte Saga," has the new look in movie production. Even with a big cast, it will be filmed in 45 days. Come Louis, Breyer or high water. In other words, it will have been at least 90, incidentally, the picture will get a new title: "The Forsyte Saga." Greer Garson's new film, "The Forsyte Saga," has the new look in movie production. Equality Enjoyed By India's Women

VANCOUVER, Jan. 4.—(CP)—The impression held by the western world that India's women are underprivileged is wrong, says Prof. P. S. Paulus of the University of the Pacific in Vancouver.

Prof. Paulus is making a six-month tour of North America en route home from the World Conference of Churches in Amsterdam. "Educated women in India are underprivileged in wrong, though most of them still live in seclusion, which is considered highly respectable," said the professor.

Mrs. Sarojini Naidu is the governor of a province, and Princess Rajakumari Amrit Kaur is minister of public health.

He said the Indian woman is strong in Christian India, with 250,000 members. Altogether there were 800,000 Christians in India out of a population of 400,000,000.

Immature Girl Affects Boredom

Don't be afraid to show your youthful enthusiasm. The young girl who assumes an indifferent attitude because she thinks such a manner makes her appear more grown-up is only making her immature more evident. Few truly potent women look tired with life.

A lively interest in other people and in what is happening around you is one of the most endearing personality traits a girl can possess.

However, that endowment doesn't mean that you have to adopt an unwavering everything-is-a-joke outlook.

But whenever you see a chance to appreciate a person or situation wholeheartedly, don't allow your impatience.

If your little brother scores a triumph on the basketball court, let him know that you are proud to be his sister. If your Mom gets decked out in her best party dress, tell her that she looks like a million. If a girl chum snatches off the prom date with the most popular boy in school, don't try to belittle her conquest by assuming an air of bored indifference. Instead, let her that you think her boy friend is a lucky guy and that you know she'll be the belle of the ball.

Marcia Hilda Frattin Weds Jack Backun Here

Traditional Jewish ceremony was performed at the home of Mr. and Mrs. A. Frattin, when their youngest daughter, Marcia Hilda, became the bride of Jack Theodore Backun, son of M. Backun, of Moose Jaw, and the late Mrs. Backun.

White satin canopy, topped with the Star of David, formed the setting for the wedding. Tall white tapers and bouquets of white and mauve chrysanthemums completed the decorations.

Rebels H. Lane Hurwitz performed the ceremony and the bride was given in marriage by her parents.

For her wedding she wore a cocktail-length frock of champagne satin, that was fastened with a wide silver collar, deep V-neckline, long sleeves, and a tiered train. The back of the full ballerina skirt, lined with tulle, included an ostrich plume hat in the same shade, and slippers and gloves to match. She carried an ivory prayer book, covered with a corset of Johanna Hill and Sweetheart roses, and wore as her only jewelry, a single strand of pearls.

Attending her was her aunt, Mrs. W. Combs, as matron of honor. For occasion she chose a coronation frock, styled with a draped skirt, falling softly from a low waistline, and having a high round neckline and long sleeves on the simple gown. An ostrich feather-trimmed hat and matching gray accessories complemented her dress, and her carriage was of Tea roses.

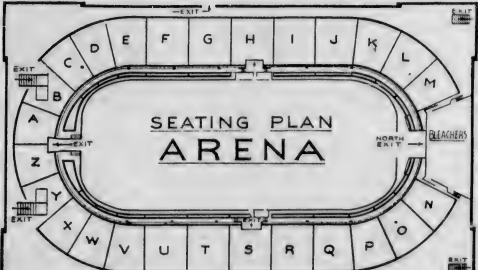

Alas! Backun attended the groom as best man and music for the wedding was played by Oby Jacob.

For her daughter's wedding Mrs. Frattin chose a beige dress, styled with a tulle skirt, and matching lace bodice. A cocktail hat of beige tulle, matching lace mittens, and a corsage of red and pink roses completed her ensemble.

Mrs. J. Goldstein, sister of the groom, who assisted Mrs. Frattin in planning the wedding guests, wore a dress of gray lace over tulle, with a gray and fuchsia corsage, and corsage of American Beauty roses.

Wedding dinner was served buffet style following the ceremony. The table was laid with a white Venetian curtain cloth, and adorned with a tiered wedding cake, flanked by tall white tapers in green and amber crystal candleholders.

Leaving for a honeymoon trip to eastern Canada, and many cities in the northeastern States, the bride changed to a gown of cinnamon brown, with gray accessories and Johanna Hill roses in her corsage. Mr. and Mrs. Backun will make their home in Moose Jaw.

New Program At Saddle Lake

By Harlo Jones

A new five-year development program for the Saddle Lake area, about 60 miles east of Edmonton, has been announced by the new Alberta government in conjunction with several other areas. The area scheduled to be probed contains about 180,000 acres, and it is believed $100,000 will go into the project.

At Redwater, exact situation with regard to Imperial Redwater 5 is still not known but it is believed the well struck the steeply plunging west side of the reef sufficiently high above the water line to ensure production.

Casing had been set to 3,200 feet and drilling is continuing at a depth of about 3,517.

Imperial Redwater 5 has cased the water level in a test of the interval 3,774 which recovered 780 feet of salt water. The well will be plugged back now to take assured production.

Princess-Sunray-Redwater 1 about a quarter of a mile east of Redwater, has been drilled to a depth of 2,548 feet, with final results of the attempt scheduled to be known within the next week.

The rig from the Imperial Redwater 5 well, it is believed, will be moved to the Bruderheim area where it will be employed to drill a well, temp. for the North Continental Comp. Drilling is expected to get underway within 10 days. The North Continental Company holds rights on several quarters just south and southeast of the town of Bruderheim.

At Lloydminster, work on the Excelsior refinery is reported to be progressing feverishly. The plant, which the refinery are now at the site of the assembly.

Original deadline for completion of the work was March 31, but it is now believed the work will be completed a little beyond this date because of a slow-up occasioned by cold weather. The plant, when completed, will turn out gasoline, diesel fuel, bunker sea fuel and asphalt, depending upon the market. While taking out asphalt, the plant also refines oil to 50 per cent of the light ends, including kerosene.

Leduc, Imperial Leduc 127 is ready to go on production with a well which has been drilled to a depth of 5,434 feet. Imperial 134, completed at a depth of 5,316 feet, has been scheduled to produce 40,000 barrels a day.
